AMERICAN REVOLUTION TOMMASI STYLE

by James Mason
NSWWP General Secretary

This summer marks the third anniversary of the death of Joe Tommasi in El Monte, California. I can honestly say that not a day passes in which I don't think of Tommasi.

It's easy to wish for the return of a dead comrade and to imagine how things might be going if he were still with us.

But if I knew Joe correctly, even had he escaped death in August, 1975, he'd have already managed to have gotten himself killed a dozen times over by now.

So how do we look at his death? As a set-back to the Revolution? Or as the incident that got it started off in earnest?

Tommasi was only twenty-four at the time of his death and his work had hardly begun. But he left us something decisive: He made us feel comfortable as radicals.

Radicalism and revolution come easy now whereas before the American Nazis were actually just conservatives.

Things have changed dramatically because of Tommasi. If you're old enough to recall back ten years, the radicals then in the U.S. were all Leftists and Blacks.

I fairly and objectively ask anyone to come up with a group more revolutionary in America today than the Nazis.

This didn't happen by accident either. It took a lot of work and strain. It took, first of all, a revolution of the mind.

What exactly is this revolution of the mind that Tommasi knew so well? It is the single common-denominator possessed by all movements who succeeded at revolution for, without it, all power would be meaningless.

It is more than passion: It is the ability to become larger than the forces around one and thereby the ability to master and control any situation.

It is the freedom to rid oneself of the poisons of doubt and reaction.

It is the strength of mind, character and purpose to view all existing society as the enemy of revolution.

It is the responsibility and challenge accepted of revolution by choice rather than by necessity.

It is the skill and cunning to successfully use every obstacle to one's own advantage.

It is the philosophy of victory.

It is the new morality of that which works is good and that which doesn't work is bad.

It is the new loyalty to that which is correct.

With this revolution of the mind, disillusionment and discouragement are out of the question.

Those with this attitude cannot be used, tricked or misled.

It is the Rockwell concept of the one-man army come full circle.

Without such an inner reinforcement, revolution in this country would be impossible for to play the game the way one is supposed to is to acknowledge and try to deal with hopeless odds.

Like a direct extract from "The Emperor's New Clothes", the "in" crowd must believe that, this time, there's no way out because Big Brother has learned from all his mistakes over the centuries and today has all loopholes plugged.

But the whole Big Brother System trembles when just one fanatic stands up wearing a Swastika and declares he is going to strike the System down!

The tens of millions of those who say it "can't be done" amount to just part of the scenery.

The war is between us and the Big Brother Jews holding power. The war is strictly between those in the know.

I wish Joe were here today not so that we could turn over the job for him to do but so that he could know that he was RIGHT in his ideas!

Big Brother is SCREAMING in his press, radio and television about the fanatical Nazis. Again, it is no accident. Something is being done right!

Instead of the tightest hold over any nation in history, it could be that here it is the biggest bluff in history. Big Brother doesn't panic often or over nothing.

The revolution of the mind succeeded in spite of Joe's untimely death.

Thanks to Joe, it's only a question of a short time before we spot the gaping holes in Big Brother's defences and realize our own strength.

The American Revolution of the Twentieth Century will resemble nothing else in all of history.

Compared with the fight to overcome the pre-programmed defeatism instilled via Big Brother's "Liberal Education System" and the television, the real revolution - the act of disposing physically of Big Brother himself - will be next to nothing at all.

One thing is certain at this point, when it's all over with, Joe Tommasi will be recalled as the man who turned the final tables.

Police May Have Description Of Cleveland Bomber

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police probing the bombing of Martin Luther King Jr. Vocational High School say they may have a description of the man who has planted bombs there and at six other schools in the past 11 months.

The bomb that exploded outside the school, located in a predominantly black area on E. 71st St., early Wednesday was the police said. It was described as a pipe bomb with an explosive force equivalent to 40 to 50 sticks of dynamite.

BOMB DAMAGE — Cleveland police sift through the rubble of the Martin Luther King Jr. Vocational High School where a bomb exploded early Wednesday causing extensive damage. The bomb was described as a pipe bomb surrounded by dynamite with an explosive force equivalent to 40 to 50 sticks of dynamite.

Shooting, Bomb Link Suspected

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Police say they do not know if there is connection between the May 22 shooting death of an Elyria youth and a bomb found under his brother's truck.

Five sticks of dynamite were found Tuesday wired to the undercarriage of a truck at the home of Al Hershberger.

HERSHBERGER'S brother, James, 18, was found slain two weeks ago in Russia Township.

Elyria police Lt. Anthony Logar, who is heading the investigation, said the bomb was not set to go off. However, he said the device had the potential to destroy the truck and heavily damage nearby homes.

If this is their idea of a Conservative...

WHAT in HELL will they do when they meet up with a RADICAL?

BOMBING, Cont.

IT BLEW A door off its hinges, dug a crater in the ground and ripped a two-foot wide hole through a cinderblock wall.

Police said the blast was channeled down the hallway, tearing down sections of ceiling, shattering windows and tossing furniture around.

As in the previous bombings, there were no injuries.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS, already hard-pressed for cash, estimated the loss at $500,000 and said school buildings are not insured.

Residents of the area gave police the description of a husky, white man in his 40s, with gray hair who they said was seen near the school about the time of the explosion.

Investigators declined to discuss the case in detail but said they believe they will be able to identify the man soon. They said they know where the dynamite and pipe used in making the bomb were obtained.

POLICE AND federal agents say they believe the man is responsible for a total of 13 bombings or attempted bombings since last June, including adult movie houses and a Xerox Corp. storage building as well as the seven schools.

In all but one case the bombs were left in plastic gym bags, according to investigators. In some cases the bombs failed to explode, and in other cases the investigators found scraps of materials used.

The bomber has left no notes and has contacted no one. However, police theorize that he is a west side resident who is highly conservative, hates blacks and opposes school busing. Investigators say that profile is based in part on interviews with psychiatrists.

CLASSES WERE canceled at King Vocational Wednesday, but the school was reopened Thursday.

Joseph Broz, acting business manager for the school system, said the schools were "desperately in need of money, and here we have to divert it."

Charles V. Romcea, principal, said the school board "could have used this money to buy textbooks. All the children will suffer."

Police said they do not know a motive for the incident.

HERSHBERGER WAS unavailable for comment, but police say he told them he did not know who might have placed the bomb.

The body of James Hershberger was found in his car on a road west of Oberlin May 22. He had been shot once in the head.

Lorain County sheriff's deputies said there were few clues to the slaying and added that they have no suspects.

"IT SEEMS LIKE too much to be a coincidence," Logar said.

Police found the bomb after receiving a call, but Logar declined to name the person who called.

Logar said the bomb, made of dynamite, a blasting cap and detonating wires, appeared to be "a fairly professional job."

Cleveland bomb experts disposed of the bomb.

EXCLUSIVE: LAST INTERVIEW

LOS ANGELES

FREE

LEADER SLAIN

'Cops are political soldiers'

JEANNE CORDOVA

In our first exclusive interview (March 21) with Joe Tommasi, the Nazi leader claimed the provisional wing of his group (National Socialist Liberation Front) was responsible for the Feb. 2 teargassing of the Rosenberg rally and the Feb. 4 bombing of the headquarters of the Socialist Worker's Party.

Our second much-delayed interview with Joe Tommasi took place in an innocuous coffeeshop in El Monte. In March Tommasi canceled the second half of a scheduled two-part interview because he was under heavy surveillance by the LAPD and the Criminal Conspiracy Section following the bombings. This time he declined to meet at the Free Press office because he didn't want to "run into any political enemies."

Understandably more cautious, the Nazi leader refused further comment on the SWP and Rosenberg incidents, noting, "You can't be too careful . . . you know the Grand Jury is in town." (Grand juries can subpoena and force testimony without specific criminal evidence.)

Asked what "projects" his group was currently pursuing, Tommasi referred to the April attempted bombing of the Mid-night Special Bookstore as "interesting." Speculating that "someone probably just wanted to practice" (bombmaking?), Tommasi quickly moved conversation to our scheduled topic, "The Nazis and the Police."

'Average Cop Digs Us'

Tommasi says the Left's charge that the police don't want to bust him for the February bombings is "bullshit." "They want to bust me like mad," the Nazi laughed, referring specifically to Sgt. Ray Callahan (Criminal Conspiracy Section) who has "hassled" him several times. CCS says it has put "thousands of man hours" on the SWP bombing case but has been unable to uncover any real clues leading to the bombers. Tommasi confirmed, "They (CCS) don't have a thing to go on."

I asked him about his group's general relationship with the police. Tommasi drew distinctions between the cop on the street and the bureaucracy. "The average cop, I think, digs us," he admitted. "The higher-ups, anything above a Lieutenant, especially CCS, wants to nail our ass to the wall. They're political soldiers."

Illustrating the difference, the Nazi leader recounted a recent story of one of his party members being picked up with a shotgun in his car by the Hollenbeck P.D. According to Tommasi, when the Hollenbeck station found the individual belonged to NSLF, they "got friendly and asked, 'How's Joe?'"

Continuing his classification, Tommasi explained, "The average cop who has to do the dirty work feels just like us; he doesn't see himself as part of the system. But you have a government and a power structure, and that power structure has an army, the others (CCS, higher officers) are the generals.

In his high school days Tommasi wanted to be a police officer. He turned from this peace-keeping vocation after politically maturing and realizing, "You can't be against the system and be one of her soldiers."

Conversely, Tommasi described the relationship between his former affiliate, the American Nazi Party, and the police as "very good." Tommasi's group originally split with its mother organization in January of 1974 because of a power struggle between himself and the ANP national leadership.

According to Tommasi, they also disagreed on a number of political points: "They (ANP) feel they can come to power through legal means, so they never do anything illegal, they want the police on their side." Splitting from this philosophy, the NSLF believes an armed revolution is inevitable, and they are not remiss in taking up arms toward that end.

Tommasi says when he was the captain of the El Monte branch of the ANP, they had an "understanding" with the local police force. The agreement was, "I wouldn't provoke trouble in El Monte and they wouldn't go out of their way to look for us."

Tommasi verifies there "probably were" a number of party members who worked for the police. Six weeks ago East Coast news sources reported that Roy Frankhauser, a former associate of ANP founder George Lincoln Rockwell, was an FBI informant. After leaving Rockwell in 1964, Frankhauser joined the Minutemen and later the Ku Klux Klan. His long-time role as an infiltrator in right- and left-wing groups was discovered in June when Frankhauser was arrested for possession of dynamite and attempted to get off by calling upon his employer for help.

According to Tommasi, Frankhauser "had a clearance pass from the Internal Security Commission or some high intelligence operation" to go into Canada and spy on Arab guerrilla groups suspected of plotting assassinations of Zionist leaders in America. Most recently Frankhauser had been infiltrating left-wing groups. Tommasi also blamed Frankhauser for the 1965 murder (officially labeled suicide) of Dan Burros, former Nazi Party member whom the New York Times exposed as a Jew.

Most recently, it was Frankhauser, says Tommasi, who informed the New Jersey police that John Duffy, former ANP national organizer and now member of the NSLF, was carrying weapons out of Delaware into New Jersey. Duffy, who arranged the Free Press's first interview with Tommasi, was arrested in January of this year. The charge has since been reduced. Duffy is out on bail and here working with NSLF.

On the international level, the Nazi leader went on to deny charges that former Gestapo officers are associated with the international police organization, INTERPOL. "I was flabbergasted to hear that," Tommasi spoke incredulously of Senator Joseph Montoya's January 1975 request for congressional hearings on the issue: "If you want to know the truth, we're scared shitless of INTERPOL."

Noting that ANP's attitude toward the international police was also one of "continual concern," Tommasi maintained INTERPOL has arrested and deported party members in Germany for nothing more than wearing swastika pins.

The Nazi leader says INTERPOL backs the controversial United Nations "genocide" proposal which, if passed, would give INTERPOL a mandate to arrest all persons who advocate any kind of genocide. Versions of this bill have been passed in Canada and England. Collin Jordan, head of the Nazi Party in England in the early sixties, was jailed for two years under Britain's race relations act.

6 Speaking of the grand jury and growing police power in this country, Tommasi analyzed: "We used to have police repression. What we're seeing now is the development of a computerized police state. In the war movies they make a big deal out of Germans asking for identification: 'Your papers, please.' Now we're stopped on the street and asked for two or three pieces of I.D., and we're not even in a war.

"What you're seeing now is a system that is aware that the possibility of revolution exists. The sixties taught them what can happen when people get their shit together, no matter if those people are from the Right or Left. So now the system's taking steps to insure their stability."

Demonstrating cooptative tactics in law-enforcement, Tommasi imitated a "Pancho Gonzalez" sheriff appealing to young Chicano men: "Eh, man, you join with us, help smash all these li-i-i-tle groups in your barrio." Sounding much like the revolutionary he claims he is, the Nazi leader concluded, "You don't have to be a black or Mexican to see what's going on in this country. The system's in big trouble."

Summarizing his relationship with law-enforcement, Tommasi clarified: "I wish INTERPOL was on our side; I wish we were being bought off by the police; we wouldn't be having all these money problems. I hear they pay pretty good."

Money is the big problem for NSLF now. Tommasi was forced to close his El Monte headquarters, The New Order Bookstore, last May because the landlord wouldn't renew the lease when he found out who the lessees were. This closure has made reorganizing and establishing a new home top priority. They are looking to open a national headquarters in El Monte and a second branch in Venice.

Why Venice, home of a thousand leftist labels and groups?

"We view Venice as a hardcore red area culturally and politically," Tommasi explained. "It's bound to stir our enemies, but we know there's a lot of sympathy out there hidden within the white female population mostly." Second-in-Command David Rust verified: "The white girls are tired of getting raped."

Asked if they wouldn't be happier moving to Glendale, where they'd be neighbors with the local KKK which makes its base in the redneck suburb, Tommasi pointed out, "We think it better to go into an area where a lot of people hate us and a lot will love us, rather than go where no one gives a shit."

In NSLF's analysis, Glendale doesn't know or care if you're a Communist or a Bircher, just as long as you don't rock the boat and disturb their business community. Evidently the Nazis think they will be busier and more successful recruiting in a town where the boat is rocked so often no one is unshakable. Tommasi pictorialized the Venice Branch: "We'll have a 24-hour armed guard and a half-dozen of us living on the premises."

'Corner Drug Store Gang'

A move to Venice brings the Nazis closer to the Fairfax home of the Jewish Defense League. Tommasi, however, denied the new proximity to their traditional foe had any bearing on NSLF's move. The Nazi likened JDL to a "corner drug store gang" and called them "politically insignificant."

Referring to Meir Kahane's recent more moderate positions

(see JDL story, this issue), Tommasi said, "Even their founder has abandoned them. They wouldn't be alive today if Dylan hadn't given them money."

JDL spokesperson Barry Krugal confirmed that folksinger Bob (Paul Zimmerman) Dylan, "Texas Jew Boy" Kinky Friedman and comedian Don Rickles have all made contributions to his organization. Krugal clarified that Dylan's contribution, made to their New York headquarters, was received several years ago.

But NSLF's move to the beach will wait until next summer. Right now Tommasi is "importing" followers from across the country to El Monte to raise money for a new "very professional" national headquarters. Almost a dozen such imports are working and giving 75 per cent of their salaries to the new building which they hope to open this fall.

[ED. NOTE: The following was originally scheduled to run as Part II of the Joe Tommasi interview. Due to Tommasi's untimely death, however, we have decided to run the entire interview in this issue.]

Taking their cue from the left, white power groups in Los Angeles and other countries are beginning to actualize the principle of strength in numbers. Joe Tommasi explains how and why he is building alliances among extreme right groups.

On May 17, Tommasi's NSLF and the local KKK formed a "united front" and counter demonstrated against a Boston pro-integration rally held in downtown Los Angeles. Calling themselves "The Boston Revolutionary Union" (the labels are all beginning to sound alike these days), the two groups joined to express "solidarity with the white resistance in Boston."

Asked if this alliance marked an ongoing relationship, Tommasi explained the KKK in Glendale was not a significant political organization (scratch one). "They're just a bunch of guys who know what they like and what they don't like... but not really political," the Nazi said, criticizing the small motorcycle gang that operates out of Bart's Cycle Shop in Glendale. Tommasi described KKK leader Bart West as "a real good friend."

Canadian Racists

Of more significance, perhaps, are NSLF's prospective coalitions with Canadian and Australian white power organizations. The Western Guard Party (WGP) of Canada has invited our locals to join their fall 1975 white power clam-bake in Cleveland, Ohio. Trying to form a broad right wing, "White Nationalist Confederacy of Understanding" (now there's a new one), the Canadian racists are trying to promote good vibes among right-wingers, national socialists (Nazis) and independent Fascists.

Although Tommasi questions "some of their reactionary aims" (most right groups love apple pie, the flag and the cops; NSLF doesn't), Tommasi sees a bigger pie and has offered conditional support for the WGP's racialist and white power politics. He plans to attend the national conference in Ohio. Our local leader's personal aim is, of course, to build a white state "of some sort."

Meanwhile, he is most concerned about the "tremendous amount of splinter groups" and divisive "ego trips" that now threaten his movement. "We have all the problems of the Left," Tommasi is honest. "Except when the Left has a splinter, that splinter has enough strength to go out and put a newspaper together. A splinter on the Right is lucky if they're strong enough to go to the Post Office and buy a roll of stamps." Humbly, the Nazi admits that NSLF is the only right splinter group in this country that has stood alone and grown stronger.

Trying to right this sad state of internal affairs, the WGP's National Conference will direct itself to "setting up places of asylum, Rhodesia or South Africa, for outlaws, establishing contacts for guns and weaponry, (and) building understanding and coalition among Right and white power groups."

On the international white scene, a second successful splinter from Australia has this month offered Tommasi the hand of a friend. The Australian National Socialist Party, for many years one of the strongest members of the World Union of National Socialists, split from their mother group last year.

Disagreeing, as does Tommasi, with the "stagnation" of the National Socialist White People's Party, Australian Nazi Neil Garland has sent our locals an "invitational letter." Tommasi said he had already responded to the overture of political friendship and expects a "very good" future relationship with the Australians.

The L.A. Nazi also indicated dissatisfaction with the recent "inactive" role of the World Union of National Socialists. "It was supposed to be our answer to the Left's International, but it's not much more than a publication exchange network now." Tommasi would like to rebuild that or another world white-power forum into a "hard

In Memoriam

Captain Joseph Charles Tommasi

1951-August 15, 1975

At 1 p.m. at the National Socialist White People's Party headquarters, Captain Joseph C. Tommasi, leader of the National Socialist Liberation Front, was martyred by a cowardly yes man of NSWPP bureaucracy.

The bullet that martyred our leader was not aimed at the Captain but at the very heart of the revolutionary movement that was his life's work. Words can never replace but only emulate the revolutionary racial idealist dedication that burned inside Joseph Tommasi the man, the fighter and the leader.

The bright flame that flared in the soul of Joseph Tommasi, that shines in the hearts of his adherents, will never be extinguished. A thousand reactionary bullets can never stop the dedication of the NSLF to the coming armed struggle.

Ironically, Captain Tommasi was martyred almost eight years to the day that Commander George Lincoln Rockwell was taken from our midst. Both cut down by "national socialists." Both for their steadfast hatred of the reactionary interference that undermines the national socialist revolution.

Let the fire and power of Captain Tommasi breathe into our souls and find expression in the destruction of his enemies. The bricks and mortar of the movement are the blood and bones of its martyrs. Tragically, this afternoon, another brick was laid. And so we, the living followers of Captain Tommasi, must attempt to pick up the pieces and continue to build on the dreams he harbored within him . . .

Lieutenant David Rust, chosen successor to Captain Tommasi, has taken over command of NSLF operations. We must all at this time give our maximum support to Lt. Rust, to insure the survival of NSLF, and not to allow the Captain to have died in vain. We must all pull together out of love, dedication and respect. He who may have wavered in the past must now rededicate his efforts to the struggle. We will build his organization into a living and breathing incarnation of our fallen Captain.

- The NSLF Eulogy

core" organization which would meet annually and plan international political strategy, weaponry workshops, etc.

Alliance With Cubans

On the home front, NSLF also maintains loose contact with Aldo Rosado's Commandos Libres Nacionalistas. Rosado's El Monte-based right-wing Cuban organization is a splinter from Alpa 66, the national anti-Communist/Castro Cuban organization. The two groups have not yet engaged in joint action, but the alliance is based on what Tommasi described as "a strong white power strain in their (CLN) political posture."

The NSLF is also planning "field trips" to Taft, Calif., this summer (presumably to support white racists of that oil town who earlier this year drove blacks out of their schools) and to Boston when school opens this fall. According to Tommasi, the National Socialist White People's Party (official name of the ANP) "blew" its leadership in the Boston busing riots last year because its members "couldn't identify with the revolutionary (white) youth there."

"You don't tell kids they can't become a Nazi or join us (against busing) until they cut their hair and stop smoking dope," said Tommasi, criticizing the approach of his former organization.

The white, racist, long-haired, dope-smoking youngsters in Boston should have little trouble identifying with the NSLF.

Assimilation Means Cultural Regression

What motivates the 24-year-old boy-leader who (surprisingly to some) fears "I'll never reach my 30th birthday"? What "faith" pushes Catholic-born David Rust who "dabbled in the left" before becoming co-conspirator in white power terror tactics?

Both believe assimilation of the white race will lead to nothing less than "global cultural regression," the Dark Ages revisited. "As whites we should be concerned with the destruction of our culture and race," says David, a voice crying in an apathetic white wilderness. Tommasi reiterates, "The white race is responsible for Western Civilization . . . progress."

Fundamentally, there are only three possible conclusions for the white or any other race: assimilation, separation, genocide. Obviously opposed to assimilation, Tommasi and Rust were asked if they as Nazis would settle for separation of the races, or if they were really calling for eugenic control of all other races.

Tommasi considers the question: "Separation is unrealistic, don't you think? The Third World population is already so large . . ."

It's hard to pin him down. He doesn't want to come right out and say it. Here in liberal America, it's not tactically smart to say that behind the facade of nationalism, Nazism means — as it always has — nothing less than global white control. □

A GRIM PREDICTION:

'I'll never reach my 30th birthday'

JEANNE CORDOVA

Joe Tommasi was supposed to call Friday morning, Aug. 15 to check final details on our interview of Aug. 1. Ironically, he had answered most of my questions in a phone conversation two days before and all I had to ask him was his age.

A 2 p.m. Aug. 15, a friend of Joe's called and told me Joseph Charles Tommasi was 24 and he was dead.

The NSLF leader was gunned down on the front steps of the headquarters of the National Socialist White People's Party, an organization he had built and once led.

(The NSWPP was founded in 1959 by George Lincoln Rockwell, and had been known as The American Nazi Party until its name was changed in 1967.)

Eyewitnesses report the fatal shooting was done by Jerry Jones, an 18-year-old probationary member of the NSWPP who was standing guard duty at the 4375 N. Peck Road location.

Angered By Insult

According to witness David Rust, he and Tommasi were out buying auto parts when the incident occurred. They were driving south on Peck past the NSWPP headquarters when Clyde Bingham, 19-year-old NSWPP member who was standing guard at the door, "flipped Joe the finger." Angered by the insult, Tommasi stopped the car and charged through the gate toward Bingham shouting, "Come and say that to my face you . . ."

Rust had also left the car and approached the NSWPP compound gate steps behind Tommasi but "stopped where I was" when he saw Bingham and Jones (who was also standing guard) draw their guns. (NSWPP spokespersons later confirmed their guards were routinely armed.)

According to Rust, Jones twice told Tommasi to get off the premises. "He (Jones) kept shouting, 'I've got orders to keep you off the property!'" As Tommasi approached and "pushed" Bingham, Bingham returned his gun to his holster and Jones shot Tommasi in the head. Police later confirmed Tommasi was killed with a .45 revolver.

Three youngsters passing on bicycles and "a man across the street" apparently witnessed all or part of the incident. They and Rust were questioned by police. NSWPP Captain Dan Stewart and Gregg Hubbard, another member on duty in the headquarters, were also questioned and later released.

At their Saturday press conference, NSWPP spokesperson Martin Kerr said, "Joe Tommasi got exactly what he deserved . . . his death is the result of two years of effort by Tommasi to destroy the White People's Party." (Tommasi was expelled from the NSWPP in September 1973). NSWPP national headquarters in Arlington, Va., are claiming Jones and Bingham acted in self-defense. "These two men . . . are guilty of no crime other than the 'crime' of trying to protect their lives and Party property."

Hours after the shooting, Kerr alleged that Tommasi was trying to enter their headquarters, but Rust claims his leader was unarmed and shot before reaching the steps of the building.

Police report finding a large stick next to Tommasi's body; however, NSLF member John Duffy claims the stick "was planted" by NSWPP members to make the shooting look like self-defense. El Monte Police Capt. Wiles said investigators had not yet established whether Tommasi was armed but said that claim seemed "negative." Duffy later maintained he had known and lived with his former leader for several months and had never known Tommasi to carry "any weapon . . . not even a knife."

Duffy likened Tommasi's death to the assassination of George L. Rockwell (Aug. 25, 1967) and accused NSWPP of engineering his leader's death. "We know Joe was on their (national NSWPP) list since he was expelled. We know Dan Stewart had issued orders recently that if Capt. Tommasi showed up within the perimeter of the yard . . . he was to be shot, and shoot to kill."

Death Predicted

That Joseph Charles Tommasi is dead at 24 is probably of little surprise to those who knew him closely. That the Nazi met his death at the gunpoint of the NSWPP is also not surprising. Speaking of his semi-underground life two weeks ago, Tommasi prophesied, "Hell . . . I don't know if I'll reach my 30th birthday." Meeting in a little-known El Monte restaurant, he seemed far more apprehensive than he had been during our February interviews.

Declining to come to the Free Press offices because he feared "political enemies," he directed his innuendos more it seemed to right-wing rather than leftist foes. Although he was seldom specific, constant references to "hassles" with his former organization indicated his continual concern with the long-running feud he alternately fueled and tried to quell.

In February, Tommasi led a NSLF raiding party to the NSWPP headquarters on Peck Rd. and, in Tommasi's words, "beat the shit out of" everyone they found at the location. Since that time members of both groups had clashed on an individual basis, NSWPP was always afraid Tommasi was out to destroy or regain control; Tommasi apparently was unwilling or unable to turn his personal attentions away from his mother organization.

'Politically Dead'

In our interviews, Tommasi never indicated any desire to regain power in NSWPP, but he lost few opportunities to point out their political "errors." Politically and personally, he saw them as a "politically dead . . . paper . . . organization."

Duffy denied Tommasi was looking for a way back into the organization but confirmed his leader was always "very hurt" by the unresolved conflict. "Joe would never have left the NSLF, but we wanted to come to an understanding with them (NSWPP). He wrote Cmdr. Koehl several times . . . I think he really wanted NSLF to be some kind of militant arm to them."

Asked why Tommasi disregarded the drawn guns in his attempt to settle with Bingham, Rust was perplexed. "It (Bingham's insult) seemed to get to Joe personally . . . I don't know . . . Joe never was afraid of guns . . ." Rust explained that a similar incident between Bingham and Tommasi had taken place months before and speculated the antagonism annoyed his former leader personally because it came from "the place Joe built . . . headquarters."

(Tommasi joined the almost defunct El Monte branch when he was 17. He built the organization into national prominence and reportedly even once owned the building he died in front of. Having purchased it for his organization, Tommasi turned the deed over to the national NSWPP during the internal power struggle which led to his expulsion.)

'He Was Nice To Joe'

The shooting seemed even more ironic considering Jones and Tommasi had a "friendly" relationship. In partial shock hours after her husband's death, Rose Tommasi referred to a recent sidewalk conversation between Jones and Tom-

Myth of the "Six Million"

Part Two by Steven Hansen

"The three or four people chiefly involved in drawing up the plan for total extermination are dead, and no documents survive."

All of this is very convenient for the liberal intellectual establishment perpetrating this legend but it only means that the "plan" and the "three or four people" are nothing but very nebulous assumptions on the part of all these writers and are completely unprovable.

Since the documents which do survive make no mention whatsoever of extermination, the various "experts" perpetuating the myth conveniently assume that such orders were generally verbal.

Otto Ohlendorf, chief of the Einsatzgruppen D unit in southern Russia had originally been "persuaded" to sign a statement to the effect that ninety thousand Jews had been murdered under his command. When Ohlendorf finally came to trial in 1948 he insisted that his earlier statement had been extorted from him by torture.

During his speech in his own behalf at the 1948 trial, Ohlendorf denounced Mr. Philip Auerbach, the Jewish Attorney-General of the Bavarian State Office for Restitution, for having stated that he was seeking compensation for an alleged "eleven million Jews" who had suffered in concentration camps.

Ohlendorf stated that "not the minutest part" of the people for whom Auerbach was seeking compensation had ever seen a concentration camp.

Eventually Auerbach was convicted for embezzlement and fraud directly related to his attempt to get money for his phantom victims.

Ohlendorf told the Tribunal that his formations often had to take vigorous action to prevent pogroms against Jews organized by various Russian nationalists behind the German front.

Ohlendorf denied that the Einsatzgruppen as a whole inflicted even one quarter of the alleged one million casualties claimed by the prosecution. He stated that the illegal (under international law) partisan warfare in Russia, which the Einsatzgruppen were combating, had taken a far higher toll of German Army lives - at least five hundred thousand German soldiers were killed, a figure confirmed by the Soviet Government.

The brilliant English jurist R.T. Paget, in his book, "Mannstein: His Campaign and his Trial" (London, 1951), concluded that the Allied prosecution at Nuremberg in accepting Soviet figures, had exaggerated the number of casualties inflicted by the Einsatzgruppen by more than one thousand per cent! In addition, the Allied prosecution had distorted much further the actual situation in which these casualties occurred.

This is a very key issue in the whole extermination legend. This is the popular mythology that the physical liquidation of European Jewry began with the action of the Einsatzgruppen against their Soviet adversaries in 1941. The whole extermination legend was built on just such bits and pieces of calculated falsehood.

masi. "He (Jones) was nice to Joe... Jerry was just a little fat kid... I don't know."

Duffy said Tommasi had even invited Jones and Hubbard to join NSLF. Mrs. Tommasi indicated her husband had never spoken of any official NSWPP plan to kill him. Active in the NSLF herself, she and Tommasi were married two years ago. Tommasi is survived by his father and two younger sisters.

Though there is speculation that the NSLF will not survive the death of its charismatic leader, his designate, 26-year-old David Rust, now assumes group leadership. Rust is also a former NSWPP member; he resigned in November 1973 to join Tommasi. Duffy, formerly with the NSWPP in Delaware, now succeeds Rust as second in command.

NSWPP Held Responsible

Rust and Duffy deny comment on possible retaliation but hold NSWPP responsible for their leader's death. "They (NSWPP) and particularly Cmdr. Matt Koehl are responsible for ousting Joe and using propaganda to incite their members against him to this degree," Rust explained.

NSLF's image may be due for some changes under Rust's leadership. Unlike his former leader, Rust is reflective and somewhat withdrawn. Personally shocked by his friend's death, Rust admitted the loss would be "pretty rugged" on NSLF. "On an individual level, Joe had more talent than most of us put together... but we're just going to need that much more dedication from all of us."

As monastic as Tommasi was impulsive, as careful as his leader was provoking, Rust may be expected to think long and hard before setting direction for future NSLF action.

Nazis shove, punch church leader in their new bookstore

By JOHN NEHMAN

The leader of the Detroit Roundtable of Christians and Jews was punched and shoved bodily out of a bookstore opened yesterday by the same neo-Nazi group which was evicted in March from a West Vernor store.

Charles C. Benham, 61, said he was punched in the chest by one of three uniformed men in their 20's who then shoved him out the door of the Nazi group's new bookstore headquarters in a former barbershop at 20807 Fenkell, near Burt on the city's northwest side.

Benham, director of the Detroit branch of the national organization dedicated to improve interracial understanding was apparently unhurt and made a complaint to police of the 16th (Northwest) Precinct. He said later he did not know whether he would prosecute any of the trio for assault.

The bookstore was opened at 8:30 a.m. yesterday by the group led by Bill Russell, 25, who describes himself as the Michigan "captain" of the National Socialist Movement.

It was Russell's group which was ordered evicted March 16 by a Detroit Common Pleas Court judge from its leased West Vernor location, which for four months was the scene of numerous community and group protests.

Within an hour of the reopening on Fenkell, a picket line of neighborhood protesters was organized by Leonard Green, National Socialism, the innocuous - sounding disease that spread over Germany, erupted into a world war, and attempted to exterminate an entire race located a small festering sore in Northwest Detroit and nearby residents and businessmen reacted in a predictable manner. Throw them out. A small group of nazis rented a building at 20807 Fenkell rd just east of Burt and opened a book store May 20. The same group had been dispossessed from another location in Detroit a few weeks earlier. Several hundred angry residents and businessmen gathered at Brightmoor Community Center Tuesday night to discuss the neighborhood problem and make plans to have the group evicted. For several days, loudly chanting pickets had walked the block in front of the building with several dozen police standing by to maintain order.

About 17 residents were arrested for what the police termed "unpeaceful protests" at the location, and Five Mile rd was blocked off several times for several hours.

Police from the 16th precinct and Tactical Mobile Section from downtown have arrested or ticketed 54 adults or juveniles May 20 through May 22 in connection with demonstrations opposing the opening of a Nazi bookstore on May 20 at 20807 Fenkell av and Pierson. Minor injuries were inflicted upon four police officers when rocks and bottles were thrown the night of May 20.

Lt. Raleigh Gresham of the 16th precinct estimates that there were approximately 1,000 people on the scene the night of May 21. About 700 were east of the store and 300 people to the west. It was necessary for police to reroute traffic.

In addition to a coalition of protestors, there are independent demonstrators, people from the area, plus individuals and groups from other parts of town adding to the confusion and emotion of the crowd.

The job of the police is to maintain the peace, but it is difficult with so many varied groups being represented. Their biggest problem is onlookers.

Insp. Alf Nelson of the 16th precinct suggests, "Stay out of the area." He added that there is sometimes a fine line between freedom of assembly and riot.

Head of the 16th precinct, Commander Charles Sherrill states, "If you have feelings one way or another, pursue those feelings in a legal way."

Walter Roesler, president of the Brightmoor businessmen's group, said that the city could act in 72 hours under a nuisance ordinance if ten businessmen and 20 residents would sign petitions protesting the operation.

Detroit Councilman Jack Kelly backed the group and said that the Council would take immediate action when the petitions were received.

One spokesman at the Brightmoor meeting claimed that it cost the city $20,000 a week for police security in front of the book store.

The nazis' swastika emblem was hung in the windows, and residents countered by parading in front with American flags.

As this publication went to press the pickets were still marching and a cordon of police guarding the whole melee.

The residents didn't hesitate to state their views at the meeting at the Brightmoor Community Center Tuesday night.

"The main thing is to picket in an orderly way," said Wally Roesler, president of the Brightmoor Community Council. "We will get the Nazis out and we'll try to get rid of the police so we can give Brightmoor back to the community."

"We aim to keep them off of our streets, to keep their poison from our children," he said.

According to Paul Boatín, president of the Inter-faith Council Against the Nazis, which he said represents 'over one million people,' 75-year-old Guy Scavone, owner of the store, did not realize that he was renting to Nazis. Scavone said he was led to believe that

Nazi bookstore may have more unpleasant neighbors

- THE NAZI BOOKSTORE on Fenkell may be getting some new neighbors — the Detroit Police. Locals had petitioned for a mini-station before the Nazis arrived, and recently police found a location in a former public library about ten doors away from the controversial store. If cops get their expected approval from City Council, they could move in by August.

the group wanted to sell surplus merchandise.

"They tricked us the same way over on West Vernor," Boatín said. According to him the group was able to set up their bookstore on Detroit's Southwest side by claiming they were opening a print shop.

"We got them evicted on West Vernor on the basis of falsifying their lease application," said Boatín.

Some residents who said they had been roughed up by the Nazis talked about bombing or burning the bookstore down.

"Without organization nothing is done," Boatín shouted at the crowd. "Don't say burn. Burn is a Nazi word."

Boatín explained that his group has already accomplished a great deal in convincing the 75-year-old owner not to accept any more rent from the Nazis. According to Boatín, the Nazis paid $150 cash in advance for two months' rent.

"We have contacted the landlord for an injunction to get the Nazis out in 30 days," Roesler said.

"Thirty days is too long," one angered resident shouted.

"Legal action has been sought and the owner has been provided with a free lawyer," Boatín said, "but these things take time."

"People are doing everything legally to get them out," he said. "The only way it can be done is through organized united peaceful pressure."

Pickets are more orderly now but according to police, officers will remain for the protection of all involved.

Nazi signs hanging in the bookstore window read, "Niggers Beware," "Hey Jews There's An Oven In Your Future," "A Nigger Works Standing In Line For A Welfare Check," and "Heil Hitler." In order to enter the store patrons must remove a picket sign, "We wiped you out in Germany - we'll wipe you out here, too."

"Violence is what the Nazis want to see," Boatín said. "We must use a peaceful means to solve our problem."

Council orders team to calm protests at Nazi bookstore

By STEPHEN CAIN
News Staff Writer

The Detroit City Council yesterday ordered a team of city officials be sent to the city's troubled Brightmoor district to try to calm the fears of residents and discourage them from demonstrating against a Nazi bookstore.

There were five more arrests yesterday near the controversial bookstore on Fenkell. Police said they involved curiosity-seekers who tussled with police officers when told to leave the area. They will be charged with assault and battery, said police officer Charles Sherrill, whose 16th (Northwest) Precinct policemen are trying to cope with the nightly disturbances.

The Council discussed the bookstore issue at length, but concluded there was little legally to be done about it.

Councilman Jack Kelley bitterly called the Nazis "dirty pukes" and said he would like to rip off their swastikas.

IN AGREEMENT, Councilman Kenneth Cockrel, the black socialist lawyer who generally is on the opposite end of the political spectrum from Kelley, slapped hands with Kelley, soul-brother style.

But Cockrel and George

Matish, deputy corporation counsel, said it would be illegal and improper to run the Nazis out of business.

Kelley, Councilman David Eberhard and others said the bookstore should be declared a public nuisance under city ordinance and closed down.

"No matter how reprehensible the philosophy of the Nazis is to me, nonetheless they are entitled to express their views," Matish said. "No evidence has been presented to me that they have breached the peace. Thus, we can't move them out on the public nuisance theory."

Eberhard suggested that the city flood the bookstore with inspectors from the Health Department, Buildings and Safety Engineering Department and the Fire Marshal's office to find some code violation to shut them down.

COCKREL SAID — and Matish agreed — that it would be improper selective law enforcement to single out the bookstore. Inspectors should be used against the bookstore, Matish added, only when the city had some specific reason to believe it was in violation of an ordinance.

Council President Erma Henderson suggested that the city's legislative body invite the FBI to investigate the Nazis. That idea died for lack of enthusiasm.

Mrs. Henderson and Kelley also suggested the daily papers, radio and television stations be asked to impose a news blackout on the situation. They said the demonstrators are seeking publicity and that attracts the trouble-seekers.

"We've passed resolutions before saying that we didn't like Nazis," Cockrel said. "We are not political commissars to rule on ideas. It's not our role. I rest my confidence on our ability to combat these ideas."

Councilmen charged the Nazis are racist and anti-Semitic. Cockrel said these prejudices are found in other people, too.

Michigan department commander of the Jewish War Veterans.

The pickets, some carrying the same signs printed by a coalition of labor and community groups to protest the West Vernor bookstore, grew quickly from two to about 25, mostly young persons.

Six police cars from the precinct and Tactical Mobile Unit were sent to the scene to keep order.

The atmosphere remained tense as the Nazis, to counter the pickets, stationed three helmeted, black-shirted members with swastika armbands in the front entrance of the store, holding Nazi placards. A sporadic series of encounters occurred in which the Nazis at one point knocked an American flag being carried by a protestor to the sidewalk.

Guy Scavone, 74, owner of the building in which the storefront is located, said Russell rented the store from him last Tuesday, paying $150 for two months' rent in advance, and stating that he needed the store to sell some "surplus goods."

Scavone, who said Russell did not tell him he was with the Nazi movement, said he offered Russell a full cash refund of his rent and asked him to leave the store, but Russell refused.

"He said they would stay for two months," Scavone said. "I don't want any Nazis in my building."

Russell claimed he gave Scavone his true name and the name of his party.

Benham, the Detroit Roundtable director, said he entered the store to obtain samples of the literature being offered by the Nazi group.

"I wanted to see whether they were going to disseminate the same kind of literature they did on Vernor," said Benham, who added that he participated in several rallies protesting the Vernor bookstore.

"I had a brief exchange of words, was told to get out, and was then pushed out of the store. As they shoved me, someone came up with a punch."

Asked about the incident, Russell said, "That must be the one who started ranting and raving. He began attacking our literature and went into a mad rave. We had to restrain him and stick him outside."

regulation, no other nation could have been heard to complain."

Of course, in point of fact, Germany was bombarded with invective and economic sanctions for doing precisely these things. Germany's internal measures against the Jews were certainly a very crucial pre-War propaganda "cause celebre" which eventually steered their respective countries into war against Germany. Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wisc) pointed out that Pohl had signed some incriminating statements after being subjected to severe torture, including a bogus admission that he had seen a gas chamber at Auschwitz in the summer of 1944. Pohl successfully repudiated this particular charge.

Eventually, enough firsthand reports were brought forward by American and British observers after the War. These reports established the complete fraudulence of the claims concerning alleged "gas chambers" in the various camps in Germany such as Dachau, Buchenwald, Bergen-Belsen, Ravensbrück, Sachsenhausen, Flossenbürg, Theresienstadt, Gross-Rosen, Mauthausen, Neugamme and Natzweiler.

Consequently, the supporters of the extermination legend shifted their focus of these allegations to the eastern camps in what by then was a Communist-controlled Poland. The Jewish historian, Gerald Reitlinger, admits that all the "information" concerning Auschwitz and the other eastern camps comes from the post-War Communist regimes of Eastern Europe. However, no living authentic eyewitness of any of these "gassings" has ever been produced and affirmed.

These "gassings" were alleged to have occurred between March 1942 and October 1944, supposedly taking some three million lives in the process. This would have been equivalent to exterminating three thousand three hundred and fifty people every day, day and night literally non-stop, for over two and one-half years.

Considering the acute wartime manpower shortage in German-occupied Europe and the enormous logistical problems that would be involved in such an undertaking, the claims of mass exterminations appear to be wild fantasy.

In his excellent book, "The Drama of European Jews", the late Professor Paul Rassinier of France showed that due to the extreme shortages of the War, the Germans had nowhere near the actual train capacity to haul the vast, enormous numbers claimed by the perpetrators of the holocaust legend. It took at least twenty-five to thirty train cars to haul three thousand persons and this included a tremendous expense in armed security and personnel to guard the trains.

Rassinier was a French Left-anarchist who was a member of the anti-Nazi French resistance and spent over two years at Buchenwald and Dora concentration camps. His work is a very masterful, detailed analysis and refutation of the usual "gas chamber", "mass extermination" claims spewed forth endlessly by our propaganda media since 1945.

To give just one more example of the sort of nonsense very typically put forward by supposedly reputable writers, let no review overlook Olga Lengyel's "Five Chimneys" (London, 1959). Lengyel asserts that at Auschwitz, the ovens cremated no less than seven hundred and twenty per hour, or seventeen-thousand two hundred and eighty corpses per twenty-four hour shift." She also claimed that eight thousand persons were burned every day in the "death pits" and therefore, "in round numbers, about twenty-four thousand corpses were handled every day" (from pages 80 and 81.)

This would have meant a death rate of over twenty-one million Jews: Six million more than the entire world Jewish population. Is any comment necessary?

I myself had an experience which clearly shows that many people have no conception of what is even meant by "gas chambers" and confuse it with crematoriums. Cremation is an old and widely accepted method of disposal of the dead in Germany and much of Europe. Naturally in a concentration camp which contained several thousand or several hundred thousand persons, there would necessarily have to be some efficient, practical method of the disposal of the deceased.

Due to the Allied bombing raids, the overcrowding, and the declining economic situation in Central Europe the last two years (particularly the last six months) of the War, there occurred a far higher than normal mortality. This would be reflected in any honest statistics on the Nazi concentration camps.

I was telling this to a rather prominent conservative author of English origin, who had served with the RAF during the War. This gentleman was at first quite insistent that there were "gas chambers" at Buchenwald. He had even "seen them with his own eyes", etc. I pointed out that Rassinier thoroughly exploded the Buchenwald "gas chamber" fallacy in David Rousset's work, "The Other Kingdom", and that even the Jewish Agency in Tel Aviv flatly stated several years ago that there were no "gas chambers" in Buchenwald, Dachau or any other camps in Germany proper. This individual was somewhat taken aback by this information and then he conceded that he saw crematoriums and not "gas chambers". I honestly think that he did not believe there was a difference until it was pointed out to him.

Although according to popular mythology, anywhere from three to five million persons were supposed to have been exterminated at Auschwitz alone (these figures make up the bulk of the "six million" myth), Reitlinger admits that only three hundred and sixty-three thousand persons were registered at Auschwitz from January 1940 to February 1945. Of course a large percentage were not Jews either. It is thus claimed by the proponents of the myth that many people were not registered. But this has in no manner been proved. Even if we give these people the undeserved benefit of the doubt and assume there were as many unregistered as registered it would still be only seven hundred and fifty-thousand persons - nowhere near the three or five million "exterminated"!

Also, over eighty thousand prisoners at Auschwitz were evacuated westward in January 1945 before the Soviet advance. Large numbers of the Auschwitz camp population were released or transported elsewhere during the War years. At least one hundred and fifty thousand were still alive in Auschwitz at the time of the Russian "liberation".

At Auschwitz today, visitors are shown small furnaces which are claimed to be "faithful replicas" of the same type where "millions were exterminated".

To have transported the alleged "six million Jews" and countless other nationalities to internment camps would simply have paralyzed the German military operations. A transportation of a reasonable number of prisoners such as the three hundred and sixty-three thousand at Auschwitz, would make sense in terms of the compulsory labor they supplied the vast industrial complex at Auschwitz.

PARIS — Hundreds of white survivors from the war in Zaire flooded refugee centers in France and Belgium today, relating stories of pillage and massacre both by rebels high on drugs and by Zairean government troops.

"The rebels came at 4 in the morning," Mrs. Daniel Nortier said. "We heard shots. The rebels were kids, just 13 and 14, like my boys," gesturing to her two sons.

Nortier's family were among 86 French nationals who arrived in Paris today, rescued by French paratroopers from rebels who invaded Zaire's southern Shaba province almost two weeks ago.

Her voice rose and she talked faster: "They threw grenades into houses of whites. I saw people dead on the sidewalk with bayonets sticking out of their stomachs."

She broke into sobs and started babbling. Red Cross nurses put her into a wheelchair and held her hands. "I am afraid ... I am afraid," she gasped. Then she screamed.

In Brussels, three other planes arrived from Kinshasa late yesterday carrying 560 refugees. In all, 2,500 whites were evacuated.

Many told UPI reporter Michael Dennigan of anti-white savagery by both the invading rebels and the Zairean government troops supposedly defending the town.
